

Jaclyn Kugell to Speak at MCLE's 50 Points of Law - Employment Law Program

Morgan, Brown & Joy Managing Partner Jaclyn Kugell will speak at the Massachusetts Continuing Legal Education's (MCLE) 50 Points of Law - Employment Law Program, August 1, 2019 in Boston, MA. As part of a series honoring MCLE's 50th anniversary, Kugell will co-present, "Major Developments & Traps for the Unwary." Her session will address the legal issues and events that have reshaped employment law over the last decade, including:

- The New World of Non-Competition Agreements in Massachusetts
- Changing Consideration in Discrimination Law
- Continued Developments in the Universe of Paid Leave and Wage and Hour Law

Kugell will also provide welcome remarks and participate in the "Ask the Experts" session.

Kugell is the Chair of Morgan Brown & Joy's Management Committee, representing employers in employment litigation matters in Massachusetts Courts, United States Federal District Courts including Georgia, Kentucky, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New Jersey, Ohio and Rhode Island, and the United States Court of Appeals for the First and Eleventh Circuits. She advises employers on the variety of labor and employment law issues and regularly conducts seminars and training programs on unlawful harassment, preventing discrimination and fostering diversity, effectuating reasonable accommodations, effective and defensible disciplinary tools, supervisory skills, progressive discipline, lawful hiring practices, Family and Medical Leave Act, disability discrimination, and workers' compensation statutes. Kugell is a regular speaker on employment law and also advises employers on the variety of labor and employment law issues.

MCLE is the Massachusetts legal community's premier provider of hands-on educational programs and reference materials. Its particular focus is applied law: practical, highly concrete training for attorneys in the essential elements of professional practice. MCLE presents more than 250 programs annually, in a variety of in-person and online formats and published more than 160 practice manuals. This event is part of MCLE's 50th Anniversary Series.
